

Fastest acting, longest lasting!

50 couples search for The Most Effective Herbal Sexual Enhancer

By Lena Khor, Staff Writer, Herbs & Health News (31/08/03)

Imperial Gold. Maca. Vigorex. Herbal V. VigRx. Orexis. Libidus.

Anyone who has ever had sexual health problems would be familiar with these names as they are among the top twelve leading male herbal sexual enhancers on the internet today.

With so many brands in the market and the internet making it too easy to get these products, how do consumers know which is not just good but the best for them? Can these amazing (and almost outrageous) claims by certain brands be true? After all, you have products claiming anything from "immediate satisfying results" to "permanent increase in sex drive".

To find out the truth behind male sexual enhancer products, and recommend a product that actually delivers on the claims it makes, Herbs & Health News conducted an independent test from Aug 2 to 24 in 2003. During this period, 50 couples between the ages of 20 to 60 came together voluntarily to try out the brands. Out of this group, 4 men were impotent.

Which product works?

Some of the brands tested had the potential to enhance physical performance. Some demonstrated increased sexual stamina.

But when it came to the sexual enhancer that gave the male subjects an almost-instantaneous erection that lasted the longest, Libidus topped both categories, with an average reaction time of 10 minutes and an effectiveness of 12 hours.

These impressive results then clinched Libidus the title of Herbs & Health News' "The Most Effective Herbal Sexual Enhancer".

How did Libidus end up as the top choice?

For the answer to that, you'd have to take a closer look at what's in Libidus.

Over a year's worth of diligent analysis and testing ended with a combination of 7 types of herbs, with Eurycoma Longifolia as its main ingredient. Also known as Tongkat Ali in Southeast Asia, Eurycoma Longifolia has been proven by scientists as an effective herbal aphrodisiac and libido booster.

Volunteers in our independent test tell us they suffered from penile blood flow problems while some simply had no sexual desire. Libidus' unique herbal mix was the reason why they - and their erections - were in the mood in as quickly as 10 minutes. With repeat performances to boot.

And most importantly, none of our volunteers had to deal with headaches, palpitations, sweating or dizziness that are closely linked with usage of sexual enhancers.

Here are comments from some of the participants:

"After consuming Libidus, I was able to maintain a rock-hard erection even after 2 ejaculations. And we had sex for 1 hour 20 minutes. It was simply incredible!"

"Sex has never felt better! My ejaculation was fuller and more powerful."

"The problem I had was with my erection. It just wouldn't stay hard. After taking Libidus, I managed to sustain a very stout erection for more than 40 minutes! Unbelievable!"

"I am impotent due to diabetes. Nothing that I have tried worked. Because of my condition, I dare not try ED drugs. Libidus was my life-saver for it gave me an erection that I had never experienced for 5 years!"